Executive Summary

Managing knowledge, MSME employs three distinct knowledge platforms ranging from intraorganizational purposes to public uses.

First, MSME Faculty Knowledge Space, a knowledge area for the school's use, is placed at a restricted area of the MSME learning management system (<https://lms.msme.au.edu>). The main purpose of this service is to share knowledge within our organization such as our past professional development sessions, and summarized lesson learned from past events.

The second platform is MSME E-Services (<https://eservice.msme.au.edu/learning>), which allows members to share knowledge created within the school with the public in several categories including learning and teaching, career advice and technological know-how. This area is open to the public, while only assigned contributors from the school maintain and update the content.

The final knowledge sharing area is the MSME stories at the MSME website (<https://msme.au.edu/index.php/msme-stories>), where we share best practices and success stories of our communities to the public.

MSME Faculty Knowledge Space

The MSME Faculty Knowledge Space is accessible via <https://lms.msme.au.edu/course/view.php?id=411>.

Content is categorially organized by functions (i.e., HR, Research, administrative, programs), units (i.e., EdPEX, AACSB, Advising), and task forces (e.g., AoL, Branding, and Data committee teams). Also, the past professional development sessions that the school regularly offers during midterm and final exam periods were archived.

MSME Training Archive

Most contents are accessible to all the MSME members (e.g., training, research and advising) while some contents are restricted by roles. For example, only AoL members are given the access to the AoL materials.

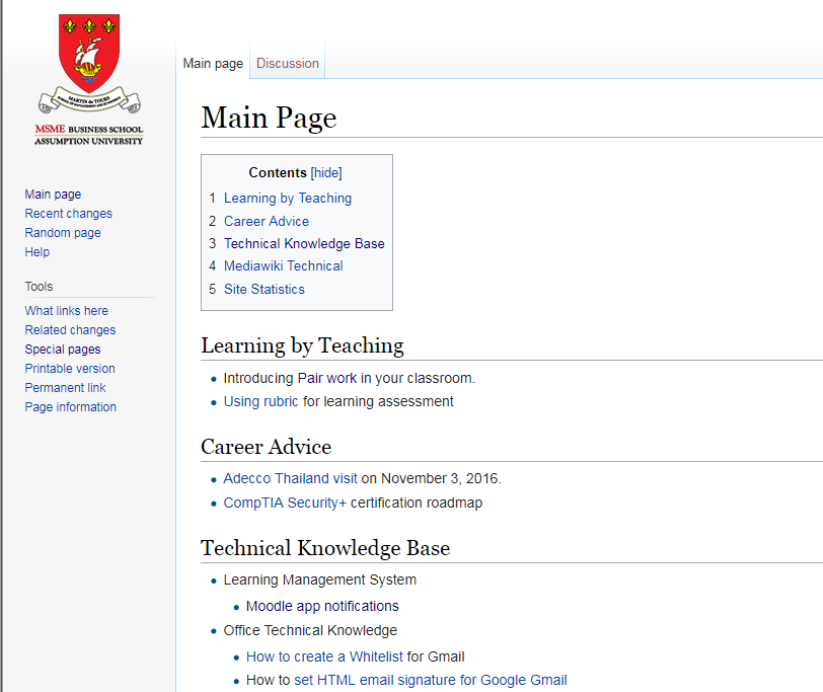

The table below illustrates the usage statistics and compares those from 2018 to 2021.
